

HOW FAR WOULD YOU GET ON £96.35?

If you became too ill to work, you'd soon find out.

You might be surprised to find that Statutory Sick Pay is only £96.35¹ a week. Enough to fill up the car maybe, but how far through the week would you get?

It could pay to get all the facts on what the state might provide:

- Statutory Sick Pay is just £96.35¹ a week and is only paid for up to 28 weeks – although your employer may pay you more than this.
- With Employment and Support Allowance you'll get up to £74.70¹ a week – not a lot when you consider the average household family spend on food alone is £63.70² a week.

A little income protection could help keep your engine running.

Sources: 1 www.gov.uk, November 2021. 2 www.ons.gov.uk, March 2021.
Please note that state benefits are changing, depending on where you live in the UK you may be entitled to different benefits – visit www.gov.uk for more information.

To find the best way to protect you and your family, talk to us today.

Call Richard Clayton on 07778 36 30 69

Richard Clayton Financial Services
Fulford House
Newbold Terrace
Royal Leamington Spa
Warwickshire
CV32 4EA
richard.clayton@live.co.uk

Richard Clayton
Financial Services

Richard Clayton Financial Services is Authorised and Regulated by the Financial Conduct Authority FCA 623679